Domestic Abuse Counselling Service

If you have experienced domestic abuse and want to talk to someone about your experience, The Domestic Abuse Counselling Service is here to listen to you.

We offer counselling services to those who are currently experiencing domestic abuse or have experienced Domestic abuse in their recent past.

You may want to leave your Relationship.

You may want to stay.

We are here to offer you our time and a safe space to help you make a decision that is right for you.

DACS

defines

Domestic Abuse

As actual and threatened abuse against any person in a current or recently ended intimate relationship.

If Domestic Abuse is part of your relationship.

If you have experienced Domestic Abuse in a recently ended relationship.

If you would like someone to listen to you.

We can provide a safe place for you to talk things through in confidence with no pressure.

We Are Here To Listen

Domestic Abuse Counselling Service

We began in January 2006 as the Domestic Abuse Counselling service, in response to a gap in service provision for victims of domestic abuse.

Our counselling service is made possible through grant funding and donations.

Our staff counsellors are supported by volunteer counsellors on University/ college final year placement.

The service is available to both female and male victims of abuse.

We work within the guidelines of the British Association of Counselling and Psychotherapy.

If you would like more information about our service please contact
